Some of the 60 beautiful Carrol dress team members surrounded Tom Walsh as he tried to explain his assignment to report their trip to New York during national competition. The girls don't look like they believe Tom.

60 Reasons for Tom's Trip -- They're All Girls

Tom Walsh has gone to New York and who knows what has happened to him by now. Last Saturday with 60 girls. The beauties are members of the Carrol VFW drill team that will engage in national competition. Walsh is a red-headed, freckled-faced kid that is spending his summer on the sports staff of The Day. The assignment to go to New York with 60 girls was Tom's idea.

"It is a great idea," he told the editor. "We will have a first-hand report right from the scene."

TOM's enthusiasm was overwhelming. The editor, unaccustomed to staff members volunteering, went into shock and nodded his consent.

"They will never let him go, anyway," the editor mumbled to himself.

But they did. Tom almost got cold feet when he saw all 60 girls with their luggage in the parking lot. They told him the trip is for a full week and not just a weekend jaunt.

Tom's mother and father were there to see him off. He is a junior at Arlington High School and, well, he just couldn't say no to any home in front of all those people.

Tom must be in New York by now. He promised to write, or at least call. But he hasn't. ... poor Tom!

Requirements of City Plan Outlined at People Meeting

"The People," a group interested in the city form of government, held its first meeting Friday night.

The topic was the desirability of changing the Arlington Heights form of government from village to city.

Sixteen residents attended. "There are a number of people in Arlington Heights who would like to see a change and propose a different form of government," Herb Witke of 918 N. Duane told the meeting. Witke is chairman of the group's executive committee.

He said the village was not as homogeneous as it once had been. He said there are 22 distinct areas each with its own set of problems.

"I only listed four votes on the Village Board to decide important issues that affect these 22 different areas," Witke explained.

"We must answer this question: Is Arlington Heights completely or completely represented by the present form of government or are the people entitled to a better form of government," he added.

"We must petition the Village Board to hold a referendum," she said. "One-eighth of the number of voters who voted in the last election must sign the petition -- about 700 people." Any regional vote in Arlington Heights can sign the petition, she said.

Fireworks Mishap Injures 4

A mishap near the end of the fireworks display on Sunday night's fourth birthday Friday sent four spectators to Holy Family Hospital for treatment of injuries.

One of the aerial bombs exploded prematurely, sending fragments into the crowd, estimated by Mount Prospect police as about 200.

One fragment struck Mrs. Laverne E. Scholz, 602 Central St., Mount Prospect. She was uninjured but her sweater was burned.

Her 12-year-old daughter, Louise, was treated for a burn on her arm.

Dennis Thompson, 12, of 1110 Crabtree, Mount Prospect, knocked off a finger bone in her tank and Claire Flaherty, 19, of Hoffman Estates, was treated for splinters in her eye.

MOUNT Prospect police Sgt. Gerald Glanville provided first aid for Miss Flaherty before driving her to the hospital.

Mount Prospect firemen had the engine in the center for the fireworks display. They called the ambulance to take three of the injured to the hospital.

Miss Flaherty said the aerial bomb sent splinters flying. She said she was hurt when they fell to the ground.

Mrs. Scholz explained that daughter was standing next to her when a fragment hit her sweater.

"It made an orange glow, like a fire burning," she said, "and I guess Louise was too close to me to avoid being hit."

Sgt. Glanville said the girls' "very close" to the blast where they had back seats.

Worker Hurt In Fall

A second school, 54, of 14, is being treated for back and leg injuries at Northwestern Community Hospital Friday after he fell from the second floor of an apartment building.

Solomon is employed by contractors building the Arlington Park Apartments at Wilke and Washington. He was working on a balcony when he fell.

"I only took four votes on the Village Board to decide important issues that affect these 22 different areas," Witke explained.

"We must answer this question: Is Arlington Heights completely or completely represented by the present form of government or are the people entitled to a better form of government," he added.

"We must petition the Village Board to hold a referendum," she said. "One-eighth of the number of voters who voted in the last election must sign the petition -- about 700 people." Any regional vote in Arlington Heights can sign the petition, she said.

Washday Blues Have Rusty Tint

Mrs. James Sanders of 441 S. Windsor Dr. washed clothes Friday afternoon and she was angry. Rusty water stained the clothes.

Mrs. Sanders was so angry she wrote a letter to the Director of Public Works Gene Wilcox and demanded an explanation.

"The rust is here again," she said, holding up a wet, rusty towel and white shirt.

"Why don't you tell us when this is going to happen? Just tell us how and we'll wash. People would give up two days a week if you want to stop rusting clothes and water. You should have been looking at the wrong time. You should be fined for not letting us know when the water will be rusty," Mrs. Sanders said.

WILCOX explained that it was almost impossible to determine when and where the rusty water is in the system.

"This situation is a constant process and we can't control it. It is impossible for us to tell when and where it will occur," he said.

"This is a constant problem. We are treating the water and hope to correct the rust problem. It would be impossible for us to send police men with inspectors to warn the residents. You can't send police men with inspectors to warn the residents. This happens in every community that has well water," he said.

Wilcox said that the iron content in the water underground is a constant change. It happens at any point in the system.

Since October, he said, the department has been testing the water with a hydrogen peroxide solution. It may take at least three years before the rust is completely gone and there is no guarantee that it will not.

"The situation has been diminishing," he said.

He mentioned several washing with chlorine bleach to take rust out of the clothes.

"We are sorry this has happened but the chemical change is a constant process and we can't control it. It is impossible for us to tell when and where it will occur," he said.

Herb Witke of 918 N. Duane, chairman of the committee of "The People" conducts discussion during the Monday evening July night. Mrs. Barbara Varva of 1232 S. Walnut, one of the group's organizers, is in the foreground.

"My clothes are rusty. What are you going to do about it?" says Mrs. James Sanders to Gene Wilcox, Director of Public Works.

County Continues Hearing On Liquid Oxygen Tank

A session by Jefferson County for the hearing of land in Wisconsin Territory for the purpose of a liquid oxygen tank was held up in the air by the County Zoning Board of Appeals Friday.

The land is located at 211 Madison St. south of the Village of Wisconsin, Wisconsin.

The petition, presented in the name of Lawrence Spence, president of the company, asks that the land be rezoned from M-2 manufacturing to M-2, a broader type of manufacturing.

The company wishes to build a 2,500-gallon storage tank for liquid oxygen in connection with the present business on the land. Spence said the tank would enable the company to fill oxygen tanks on the premises rather than having to haul it from the south side of Chicago.

BOARD chairman Wilfred Peters said that, according to ordinance, a tank built to store "strong oxidizing gases" such as liquid oxygen, must be approved from any M-2 property by at least 200 feet. According to evidence presented, the tank would be only about 10 feet from some adjoining property.

Norman Salmela, a consulting engineer, said the tank he had the building of the ordinance and felt that liquid oxygen would be dangerous if stored. He said it would be dangerous, only if liquid oxygen is dangerous, only when manufactured. It is perfectly harmless while being stored, he said.

Peters' attorney, James Dowd, was invited by the board to submit a brief showing why he felt the zoning should be changed.

granted in light of the ordinance.

A 20-day extension in the case was granted by the court of Appeals Friday, but the court of Appeals, which is the Village of Wisconsin, will not allow the extension to allow the village time to submit evidence of its desire in the case. Villagers did not say what position the village would take.

in the filler-proof box.

But on second thought, the matter has begun to look rather reasonable. And, in fact, a Ten Commandments game may be just the game for the modern family.

The people we know are getting pretty tired of the advertising game, the merchandising dodge, the management team and the television hoop.

MOREOVER, you cannot open a magazine nowadays without finding some expert expounding why a woman's role is so hard to play, or why the man's game is bad for the children.

Hardly a day goes by without our hearing about someone who has been playing the game, the man, the girl, or both and acquiring the medals.

There is even a book on the best-seller list which is a proclamation against Eric Berne has reduced human resources to "The Games People Play."

Precisely where this game of living begins we do not know. But doubtless it starts quite after a baby's discovery that if he cries, something will come along to comfort him.

WITH THAT as my life, it is not long before he has his eye on the ball and is out playing to win with his barrel until somebody shows the whistle on him.

There may be very advantages to playing this game, but it is also very hard on the conscience.

AT last in love and war, to be sure. And may the best man win.

But as the other hand, no hitting below the belt. And don't forget to root for the underdog even if he's a born loser.

Furthermore, keep your eye on the ball. Stay on your toes.

Don't lead with your chin, keep your credit close to you.

Don't pass the buck. Don't stare in this line, and keep plucking every dollar you get two inches against you.

WHETHER there is anything more meaningful in the game people play, we do not know. But apparently it is a game very, very, very old.

On the other hand, it seems to be quite possible to lead a perfectly exemplary life until you crash in your sleep - just so long as you play the game.

And, of course, the rules of the game:

Honor thy father and thy mother - Advance 15 cubes.

Do not covet your neighbor - Collect 20 Haverdashes.

Commit adultery - Do not pass Go without.

Do not collect 30 plastic pins of Silver.

Play Goes Along At a Lively Clip

The audience thoroughly enjoyed the two character play called A Girl Got Lost Lively, which opened last Tuesday night at the Old Orchard Country Club Theatre. It will continue through Sunday, Sept. 11, in its fourth performance.

The story is about a man and a woman in their thirties who find happiness after a great deal of adjusting to each other's peculiarities and ingrained habits.

Author Donald Appell has succeeded in proving that good old fashioned love is still the most of them and the audience loved every minute of it.

Penny Moore, played by Lilian Drew, talks like a thirty year old juvenile delinquent but obviously knows the good things in life. She loves good books, fine lines, good dinner, flowers and flowers by candlelight.

And Wendy, her first boyfriend had second act husband, a played by Norman Rice, as Arlington Heights resident, in the play, is a New York cab driver who considers ten dollars in the bank none too in the white to marital generation. There is unabashed vocal conflict from the first curtain to the last.

The arguments are done in strange mixture of accents that once in a while pass for New York.

The Handwriting on the Wall

Each one per cent rise in living costs represents nearly five million dollars of the buying power of the American people's personal savings.

It would be an ideal spot for residents working about where to take their out-of-town guests for a night out, without having to drive their guests to the area.

DOCTOR SAYS

Gall Stones

W. C. BRANSTADT, M.D.
Q - I am 40 years old and have had an inflamed gall bladder for several years. As long as I stay on a low fat diet I don't have any trouble. The doctor says I won't have to have my gall bladder removed as long as I don't have stones and eat on my diet. What do you think?

A - A chronically inflamed gall bladder without stones is a rarity. What is much more common is a series of attacks of abdominal distress falsely attributed to the gall bladder. If your discomfort is due to an irritation of some value part of your digestive tract or to an allergy, removal of your gall bladder would accomplish nothing.

Q - I have never had a gall bladder attack but my X rays show a nonfunctional gall bladder. What will happen if I don't have the gall bladder removed?

A - A gall bladder that does not empty after a fatty meal is said to be nonfunctional. This may be due to the variety of causes and the treatment would depend on the cause. Removal of the gall bladder merely on the basis of a gall bladder that does not function is not recommended. In many persons with a non-function gall bladder eating a low fat diet and avoiding alcohol is all the treatment that is required.

Q - What are the symptoms of a gall bladder attack? How can I tell whether I have gall stones?

A - Gall bladder colic occurs when a gall stone leaves the gall bladder and enters the duct of the stone is about the same caliber as the duct. The pain is similar to what you feel when you swallow a large piece of meat much more. The pain of gall bladder colic is usually in the right upper portion of the abdomen. The diagnosis is based on a history of typical gall bladder attack and x-rays.

58 Coronets On the Scene In New York

BY TOM WALSH

NEW YORK — Hundreds of drum and bugle drill teams invaded the big city this week, including 58 Coronets and their chaperones from Arlington Heights.

The Coronet girls, sponsored by VFW Post 981, demonstrated upon the Great Tenth at 10 a.m. Sunday after a hectic but enjoyable 25-hour bus trip. The two buses left Arlington Heights Saturday.

The girls were divided into six groups for the trip. Ten girls were in one bus, the other girls — administrators — were in the second bus.

The senior bus will visit it was half drilled, half Coronets. The bus had washroom facilities, but the room was reached only after a climb over five rows of seats piled with baggage.

THE GIRLS were in high spirits. They talked of boy friends and fashions and song writing to pass the time. They made plans to postpone the examinations over the group reached New York.

The buses made five stops along the highways. At dusk Saturday and breakfast Sunday practice sessions were held at temporary plans parking lots.

The drills were designed to keep the girls nimble for national competition. As the girls, many of them wearing hair curlers, got off the bus at the Hotel Tenth most drills were scheduled.

THE CORONETS practiced in Roosevelt Stadium, Jersey City, and held a dress rehearsal.

Sunday evening they attended a drum and bugle show. It was an exciting time in the big city.

Monday was the big day. The Coronets appeared before judges in their first official parade.

"They looked good," said their regular instructor, Mr. Judges will announce their decision late Tuesday.

Not every visitor at The Day office is greeted with a shrug, but then this ferry rider is unusual. The 3-year-old success has been named Samantha by its keeper Pat League of Arlington Heights. Miss League took Samantha to visit a friend Linda Hill in Mount Prospect.

Youth, 15, Suspect in Burglary

A 15-year-old Arlington Heights youth who reportedly burglarized a doctor's office a week ago Saturday was turned in to police Sunday by his sister.

The boy's parents said they were the main issue in his prosecution.

Police said the items included a check writing machine and several black books of checks, reported stolen from the office of the late Dr. Michael Hinkley at 1024 S. Arlington Heights 221.

The youth admitted to passing four bad checks between Aug. 14 and 15, police said.

They said they feared no connection between the theft and a fire which caused about $5,000 damage to the office building yesterday.

MISS NICHOLAS NOLL

Brilliant Execution Wins State Prize

Mountain State's "Mona" as a piano requiring 11 adult education class, "Learn to Play the Organ For Fun," at Arlington Heights High School, her interest increased.

The judge for the organ contest at the Illinois State Fair was Mrs. Nicholas Noll of 414 S. Ramsey, Arlington Heights, awarded the "Mona" the first prize.

It is Springfield she was competing with 15 pianists from the organ competition.

She says she has always wanted to play the organ and finally found the time to do so.

She is a student of Adel Smith of Morton Grove who encouraged her to enter the competition. For the past two years she has ranked high in the State Fair competition.

Testimony Goes Into 2nd Day

BY SAM BOWEN

A hearing held by Prospekt Meadows residents against Elementary School No. 23 entered its second day of testimony today in Chicago.

The case opened Monday before Judge John J. Lape in the Children's Division of Circuit Court. The estimate was an investigation prohibiting the school district from enforcing Sunday school hours approved by the school board May 9.

Dr. 23 schools include DuSable, Draper, Wrigley, Park, Windsor, North Ridge, Kane, Foster, Patton, Wilcox, Ivy Hill, Greenbriar elementary schools and South, Meier and Thomas Junior High School.

The suit says that the district has retained from transferring Prospekt Meadows children to North School in September. The result, it is now stands, would transfer the children from Kensington to North school.

From 3 Rs to Modern Math, That's the Garasha Family

BY JAN BOWEN

September's school bells have assumed significance for the Garasha family.

In two weeks, Timothy Garasha, 10, of W. Harvard, will begin his first teaching job — sixth grade at Virginia Lake School in Palatine.

And as he begins his first class, Tim becomes the third generation of Garashas to join the teaching profession — three lifelines of service in education.

Father of the Garasha clan is Clarence G. Garasha, 118 N. Wilm, Mount Prospect, who retired after 40 years of continuous service. After studying manual training at Lane Technical High School, he volunteered as a teacher in Puerto Rico.

Later, he returned to finish his college work at Armonk, N.Y. He taught at Bensenville School, Mayfield Branch of Jefferson Township, and at Scher High School in Chicago.

Mrs. Clarence Garasha, herself a former teacher at Chicago Normal, was the former Vice Principal of Arlington Heights High School. Her family, the 58 Coronets, joined in Arlington Heights when the town still had modest sidewalks and hushing paths.

MR. GARASHA is 1916 graduate of Arlington Heights High School — in a class of only 30 students.

Clarence G. Garasha and Leonard G. Garasha brief Timothy Paul in what to expect. The third generation of Garashas to enter the teaching profession, Timothy will have a sixth-grade class at Virginia Lake School in Palatine.

Following down the vocation accumulated after 64 years of teaching experience, Clarence G. Garasha and Leonard G. Garasha brief Timothy Paul in what to expect. The third generation of Garashas to enter the teaching profession, Timothy will have a sixth-grade class at Virginia Lake School in Palatine.

At the AHS graduation of her son, Leonard G. Garasha, Mrs. Garasha read a poem.

Cong Mine Sinks Navy Freighter

SANJOSE — A Viet Cong mine sank the US Navy freighter Baitong Victory southeast of Saigon, closing one of the two shipping channels from the capital to the South China Sea. Seven Americans were missing and presumed dead and an eighth was injured in the blast. The shipping channel runs 40 miles to the sea, winding through mud banks and mangrove swamps that make almost undetectable hidden phone for Communist troops.

Rights Marchers in Cicero Sunday

Open housing marchers in Chicago will be drawing a hard one again today on the all-white fair south side community where Dr. Martin Luther King met violent white opposition Sunday. King's aides also say they intend to go ahead with their march into all-white suburban Cicero next Sunday.

Hines Vets To Share 2,000 Books

Hines Hospital veterans will receive approximately 2,000 books from the Hines "Book for Vietnam" drive.

Norman Garbis of Prospekt Heights and Joseph Kromer of Whiting, both 19, are giving the list of their 45,000 paperback book collection to school officials.

The bulk of the books are on the way in American volunteers in Viet Nam from Fort Riley, Kan.

Back in June it was Mrs. Del Phlegg of S. Private who brought a tankful of orange-colored water to Witkoff. Last week Mrs. James Hendrix of S. Winthrop did the same thing.

Yesterday Mrs. Sandra Hendrix, who lives in a happy home, said the situation, A sample of sodium hydroxide that Witkoff gave her last month removed all the iron stains from her wash. In June, it also worked for Mrs. Phillips.

Mrs. Sanders said, "We housewives wouldn't get so mad about it if we knew that something could be done. I thought my clothes were ruined. But if I had known I could put something in the wash water to take out the stain, I probably wouldn't have cried such a fuss."

The problem is endemic from the fact that collected over the years in the water main. The water is rusty, and it contains iron in the amount of 0.1 part per million. That isn't much, but when the iron combines with oxygen in the water it becomes rust. And it doesn't take much rust to stain white clothes.

Since October of last year the public works department has been treating village water with chemicals with oxy-phosphoric, which helps the process in suspension and prevents oxidation.

The problem of "red water," as it is called, is brought about by the accumulation of iron from pipes made of iron. The water is rusty, and it contains iron in the amount of 0.1 part per million. That isn't much, but when the iron combines with oxygen in the water it becomes rust. And it doesn't take much rust to stain white clothes.

Several chemicals are available to remove rust from iron pipes. One is ferrous sulfate, which is used for household plumbing. A water softener helps, too, but a large amount of "red water" may require the use of ferrous sulfate.

Witkoff's department reported it will take out the stain naturally and effectively is called Revel, manufactured by Frank Chemical Co., Ames, Iowa. It is used by some water departments, but it is not as effective as ferrous sulfate. It is in the form of a powder.

Witkoff's department, the problem is reported as a common one.

The company says, "On occasion, in nearly every water department system, it is of rusty water will be delivered to the customer. This is the source of 'red water'."

Witkoff's department reported it will take out the stain naturally and effectively is called good public relations, a number of water departments give a bath of Revel in the morning to housewives, who then can remove the rust stains from their clothes.

That is an idea Witkoff's department adopted when it came to the aid of the two women who brought the rusty water to him.

Calligan Water Solutions in Mount Prospect has sodium hydroxide available, but recommends it mainly for use with soda-water bottles and not for use with clothes.

Calligan recommends purchasing sodium hydroxide in any drug store. While the other chemicals dissolve the rust, sodium hydroxide is the best. The rust is still there, but you can't see it.

Minerals Water Refining Co. in Palatine has sodium hydroxide on hand, but manager Bill Lough says it is not as good as the sodium hydroxide from Calligan.

There are probably other ways to remove the rust from housewives' clothes, but it isn't known. The water is rusty, and it contains iron in the amount of

Paris Designs Are Elegant But Not Stuffy

Women of 30 and over, be of good cheer. Fashion designers haven't forgotten you!

Oh, for a while there, we thought so, what with the housewives covered in drab and gaily styled as coats of color and design of some present.

But Mrs. B. L. Lamm, hairdresser and Coco Chanel came to the rescue with styles that are elegant without being stuffy.

The headlines at showings show designers have gotten from high to mid-off, but at most homes, it is lower of it the line for dress, longer for coats.

WATERLINES, too, moved at the the moment. There was a noticeable return to subtle shaping — the kind that says one thing about a woman's figure — and away from the totally artificial built.

Marcel Bouba's collection for Dior created a sensation with perfection's coats and narrow capes with shorter-line dresses.

A vague Russian influence from St. Petersburg, maybe, prevailed in the shape of long garments, hip boots and shaggy hair.

COATS seem to be divided into two sections: the slim and the full, with full-line garments restrained by a rectangular plaid just below the shoulder blades.

Sole coats have nipped-in collars and diagonal designs. Shirts wrap around or are gathered in front. And socks lengthen up an area of moment to evening.

For few is every collection and favorite fabrics were: velvet, bias, jersey, wool and glen plaid.

Black is re-established in fashion this fall, rather a nice relief with all the pastel and new shades currently abound-

W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Anxiety and depression affect millions of Americans and probably cause more human suffering than any other condition. The cause varies widely but is generally attributed to emotional turmoil created by stress of modern living.

The diagnosis may be difficult because the symptoms include insomnia, chronic fatigue, listlessness, loss of appetite, loss of weight, irritability, nervous tension, digestive upsets and headache. Since all of these symptoms may also be seen in various organic diseases, a thorough search to rule out organic causes must be made. When these have been ruled out, there still remains the problem (often insoluble) of pinpointing the underlying cause.

Unfortunately, our inability to recognize the early signs of depression or to eliminate the cause is in part responsible for a conservatively estimated 20,000 suicides in the United States each year. The number of unsuccessful suicidal attempts may well exceed 2,000,000 annually.

Many of these and other depressed persons do not seek medical aid because they do not realize that they are ill, for financial reasons, or because they fear nothing can be done for them. In recent years, however, great strides have been made in the treatment of anxiety and depression.

The judicious use of tranquilizers has benefited many depressed persons. A new product, Etrafon, which is a combination of perphenazine, a tranquilizer, and amitriptyline, an antidepressant, has been used successfully to treat not only mild depressions but also schizophrenia, a severe mental disturbance. In some mental hospitals it was found to be preferable in every way to electric shock treatments.

Coronets Third, Miss Crown by Fraction

BY BEN WALSH
NEW YORK—The Coronets won three places Thursday in the national contest for Veterans of Foreign Wars drum and bugle corps.

The Arlington Heights girls placed a near tie with the first place behind the winners, the Shamrockettes of New York. Second place went to the St. Anthony's Diamonds of Boston.

Girls awarded the Coronets 90.75 points. The Shamrockettes scored 91.50 and the Blue Diamonds 91.45 points. The Shamrockettes scored 91.50 and the Blue Diamonds 91.45.

The perfect score is 100 points for girls marching, 15 points each for general of fun and motion (the teams must march between 120 and 132 steps per minute) and 15 points for spectators.

THE UNIT sponsored by Arlington Heights VFW Post 981 scored a perfect 15 for marching and marching 54.95.

The fractional points lost in inspection were attributed to a block of grass on the heads of one marching, which drew the score of the third place finish as a forfeit. For a while team refused to come out of their routines in the Heat.

Mr. Lynn Chapin of Washington, their manager and instructor, told her but to leave the girls.

She reportedly reminded the girls that it is a national contest and third place is a great honor.

OTHERS were more modest. "The girls are worth all the thousands of our money," said Terry O'Leary, a drill team member. The girls were the first to make their first trip.

The girls were the first to make their first trip. They stopped off before the judges on Monday in Raymond Station in Jersey City. Their formation spelled the words "Coronets March."

Tollway, Water Plans Endorsed

Elk Grove Village is ready to make its own ripple in the northwest suburbs. In fact, it is inviting neighboring communities to make the ripple.

Elk Grove officials have two projects afoot. One is an interchange at the tollway and Arlington Heights Rd.

The other is extension of Chicago water — or rather Lake Michigan water — to the suburbs.

Jack Paul, Elk Grove village president, is very active in the northwest suburbs. In fact, it is inviting neighboring communities to make the ripple.

Woods and members of the Arlington Heights board are receptive to the ripple. The ripple has been endorsed by them repeatedly.

TUESDAY night Woods stated that the Sept. 6 meeting of the Arlington Heights board include a report from Sam W. Curry, the village's representative on DAMP (Des Plaines, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect) Water Commission.

Woods said that background information is distributed to trustees before the meeting.

Woods reported another Elk Grove commission, the one from Norman L. Atkins, executive director of the Central Park Interlocal Area. Atkins joins Paul in urging action on a tollway interchange.

ATKINS and the 250 individuals in Central Park support the interchange. Elk Grove Village and Arlington Heights live in the shadow of the tollway.

He cited the growth of the area and the large volume of traffic that would more than pay for the tollway.

Woods said that the tollway interchange would change. He urged an aggressive program to secure the improvement and offered the services of the association to stir interest among other municipalities.

Woods suggested Arlington Heights officials arrange a meeting with both Paul and Atkins to discuss the proposals.

Day by Day Shopping Around

By Catherine O'Donnell

Every so often this columnist goes around to the local merchandise marts and a wealth of copy material is a bonus aftermath.

Now you take the Roadshow Shopping Center. The girls go to watch the boys. The boys go to watch the girls. And everyone should go to watch some of the features from the local barber shop.

There's more material, more than is any of the featured acts. Four young girls sit on a bench. Two sit on either side of a foot stool with a vase of flowers. A woman shopper was buying by. She stopped suddenly to stare at the boy with the hair.

"Is something you don't like today?" asked one of the girls.

"No," said the woman. "I was just admiring all you pretty girls, especially the one with the deep eyes."

To judge and the refrain from continuity.

Serious About This, Classified.

The Jewel Store has a new neighborhood policy. They all have "hair beauty" strategically placed so that anyone who wants to see a place for an advertisement for the world to see.

The more is the Arlington Market has so many ads, they're beginning to fade each other.

There are some intriguing ones. 393-4488 says "I want to get as old as old girl create out of our garage. It's yours for the taking."

Audrey Brooks of N. Princeton will grow your pants and doesn't at another manner will give even longer. 255-8405.

"Sister car run good by us, like car and control, good condition." At 255-9237. "Don't ask, call Runt. Who has a camper and trailer and place to park it. We have a beautiful yard and plenty of shade. Call Runt or Rose."

Your Child and College

If someone told you that you could get your son or daughter through a year of college if you read on a computer, there or four hours a day in two weeks, would you be interested?

Lieutenant Ray Jahnke of the Arlington Heights Police Department said it can be done. He has been helping his son, who is a high school senior, try to find two school years' worth of work in 12000 for helping children cross the street during the summer.

"It's a good chance for someone who lives closely to earn some extra money," said the lieutenant. "The corners that have to be covered are in the town, most of the time, and the number of dent and minor scrapes in the parking cars."

The latest is just south of Palatine road.

If the guards have been taken in school, they're off on the holidays, too. If anyone other male or female is out of the neighborhood, it is either they call me or the station. The number is 253-5317.

Benches Stolen

A wrought iron bench valued at $30 was reported stolen from the home of Joseph Kory 701 S. Division, yesterday. Rep and the bench had been in his front yard.

Lawndale 9 Edges North All-Stars 4-3

Lawndale Park rallied for three runs in the fifth inning last night to beat the Arlington Heights North All-Stars 9-4 in the "All-Stars" baseball tournament by a 4-3 score.

Manager Larry Lofgren's team pulled only four hits off Lawndale rightfielder Jim Kral, but they appeared to be enough to start Steve Balinski onto the final fifth.

BALINSKI gave up all four of the winners' runs on four hits. He struck out six and walked one in four and one-half innings of work. Mike Lofgren muffed out the fifth-inning inning, but he was too late. Lofgren finished the game by hitting two frames of Kral's ball, walking two and fanning one.

Arlington jumped to an early lead with a two-run rally in the second inning. Steve Zane provided the spark when he drove in three runs and moved to third on Ken Martin's single. He came home homeless when Steve Kuzler struck out the first of his two singles of the night. Martin also scored on the play.

Lofgren's "pitch" back with a single run in the third on a triple and a pocket throw were into his field.

The local crew also tried to start in the fifth. Don Carty

Larry Lofgren and Jim Kral exhibit players they view as the most improved members in the youth league program at Recreation Park this summer. The program is co-sponsored by the Arlington Park Club and the Arlington Park Association.

SPARKS ON SWIMMING

The Side Stroke

By Christian R. Sparks
Swim the front over the front number of strokes you did in your workout yesterday but now think about your arm strokes and make those turns right.

THE MAIN thing in the stroke is to be sure the arms are pulled down the center of the body. Keep your eyes open and don't breathe too early. You can't see the hands. Be sure you watch the hands.

IN THE TURN, remember not to twist the body, but to forward and one backward to in the turn. No. 2. The legs are pulled together and work on the side stroke every time. Keep your mind on the stroke and don't let the breathers to starting pool.

Unitas Is Key Factor In Colts' Grid Future

By Gary Veach
Ready for anything, Tom Meacham called the Baltimore Colts to within two minutes of the NFL Western division title in 1963, and Coach Dan Shaw intends to make up those two minutes, plus a few more this fall.

The big question now is whether the Colts will be able to repeat their success. The Colts will be able to repeat their success. The Colts will be able to repeat their success.

THE SECONDARY will be as light as ever with Dan Gashert in the middle post, Steve Schneider and Ted Davis at the corners, and Don Brown. With Shinnick the Colts will have a good rush, but he's reported thinking of retiring.

THE ONLY weak spot on the squad seems to be putting together a line. With Ken Foster, Joe Quirk, Jim Hollingsworth, and Dave Connell all trying out.

The Colts must be considered among the best with a solid defense and a wild and woolly offense. If Unitas can take care of his job, the Colts should win on top.

RGA Aims At Fresh Environment

Officers of a political action committee aiming to change the face of Mead Prospect's government released a statement today which outlined a "reorganized policy."

In an appeal directed to "citizen-minded citizens and civic groups," leaders of the Mead Prospect Executive Government Association, a "fresh environment" in Mead Prospect for the future of the city government is the goal of the group.

The RGA is continuing the vitality of village government in a special referendum day. The organization wants to see a city charter government.

Creating the new government may call city government in Mead Prospect "clean," the RGA statement says. "It is democracy in action."

Under the present village system, the village would limit the election of two city councilmen from each of seven districts and a mayor, city clerk and treasurer at district at-large.

Under the proposed village government, the mayor and all trustees are elected at-large, and other village officers are appointed.

"Political power," according to the RGA, "will be placed in the hands of grass roots people," and city government is centralized.

"Organized politics," the statement continues, "is the dominating factor in the village government, making the composition of Mead Prospect's village government a political game."

"All potential trustee candidates must be acceptable to some organization, limited membership."

hamply political group in order to gain access to the publicity, resources and financial resources necessary to conduct a city government.

"Candidates able to augment their own resources are naturally most acceptable."

"This inherent weakness of village-type government breeds indifference toward the selection of more worthy and capable candidates."

"Voting the frequently published newspaper," the statement continues, "is the dominating factor in the village government."

"Organized politics," the RGA says, "city charter government will be both the enabling means and the stimulus for creating competitive political forces."

"It is our objective to present the formation of such organizations by individuals detached from RGA and to encourage their unselfed growth and actions."

"These groups, motivated by civic pride, will not out-be the most qualified citizens, candidates."

THE RGA says administrative candidates will be able, under a city form of government, to conduct small independent campaigns within their own neighborhoods.

"Every candidate will have equal opportunity to make the statement made," without restrictions of political affiliation, number of candidates within the race or obligation to a central political machine.

City government is described by the RGA as "the accepted form of government, 90 per cent of Illinois communities listed in Illinois Municipal League publications, including Naperville, Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Evanston, Oak Brook, etc."

Village System Defended

Mead Prospect citizens will lose some of their power under a city government, according to Robert Erdmann, public relations chairman for The Citizens to Keep Village Government.

Soderman released a statement today stating the proposal of the Representative Government Association, which has petitioned for a special referendum on a city form of government.

"Citizens should not be misled," Erdmann said, "that Mead Prospect voters must elect all 14 village officials, including the six members of the library board."

"Under city government," Soderman's statement says, voters "would be able to elect just five out of 17 officials and would completely lose the right to select library board members."

SODERMAN goes on to attack the "equal representation" claim of the RGA group.

"It has been claimed by some people in town that we don't have enough representation in Mead Prospect."

"I don't call being able to vote for just five out of 17 city officials equal, compared with my present ability to vote for 14 out of 14 village officials."

Soderman estimated the number of adoptions required for a city government in Mead Prospect.

"Forteen adoptions," Soderman said, "would be more than enough."

derman said, "would be more than enough."

He said that the RGA's proposal would be to elect 14 officials, including the six members of the library board.

"The RGA claims that Chicago is underrepresented by 50 adoptions, or one adoption for every 10,000 people," he said.

"This is a very interesting argument, especially in the light of the fact that Chicago, with 4 million people, has more adoptions than any other city in the country."

Fireworks Injure 4

A mishap near the end of the fireworks display on Sunday night's fourth birthday Party at the hospital for treatment of injuries.

One of the aerial bombs exploded prematurely, sending sparks into the crowd, estimated by Mount Prospect police to be about 4,000.

One fragment struck Mrs. Kathryn A. Schuch, 602 E. 12th St., Mount Prospect. She was uninjured but her sweater was burned.

Her 12-year-old daughter, Joanne, was treated for a burn on her arm.

Denise Theodore, 12, of 1119 Craftsman, Mount Prospect, burned first degree on her ankle and Clara Flakerty, 19, of Hoffman Estates, was treated for cinders in her eye.

MOUNT PROSPECT police Sgt. Gerald Glusick, credited first aid for Miss Flakerty before driving her to the hospital.

Mount Prospect firemen had fire engine at the center for the fireworks. They called the ambulance to take three of the injured to the hospital.

Mrs. Schuch explained that her daughter was standing next to her when a fragment hit her arm.

"It made an orange pop, like it was burning," she said, "and I guess Joanne was too close to me to avoid being hurt."

Sgt. Glusick and the ambulance were standing 180 feet from the blast where Joanne was spotted back on her arm.

Donating Blood May Save a Life

BY DOLORES HAUGH
Members of St. Paul Lutheran Church donated more than 100 pints of blood during the recent visit of the Mount Sinai Hospital blood unit to Mount Prospect. The donators are part of a program whereby members of the church under 40 years of age contribute blood at regular intervals, thus making transfusions available when needed by church members and children of St. Paul School. This is the second donation. The first, held last June, also raised more than 100 pints. The blood-donating program is available to other groups, according to Mrs. Eleanor Meier, Mount Prospect's liaison in joining with St. Paul School.

at the hospital (277-4000, Ext. 423). Although the church has been participating for only a short time, five families already have been helped. "To date," said Mrs. George H. Meier, vice president of the group, "11 pints of blood have been used by members." The program gives a great deal of assurance to families. They know there is a blood bank in reserve in case of need. A program of blood giving can be advantageous to the residents of Mount Sinai Hospital unit, it is not a difficult or painful procedure. The assurance that you and your family have a supply of blood available is payment enough, but knowing you are helping others is a greater reward.

Achoo! Cars Get The Drift
A seizure was blamed for the accident Sunday that resulted in damage to three cars and injury to one man. Frank S. Vavra, 30, of 402 Central, Rolling Meadows, failed while he was driving in Campbell near Highland when he crashed.

He lost control of his auto, which struck a parked car owned by Raymond H. Schuster of Palatine. Schuster's car was pushed into a second period car owned by Louis Bradman, 43, of Palatine. Vavra was taken for negligent driving.

OTHER girls at the camp are Jan and Mrs. James Peltzman, Ellen Dismasson, Donna Marie Gullotta, Kim Jorgensen, Jennifer and Patricia Krawinkel, Roberta and Krista Leadford, Debbie Lynn, Cindy Peterson, Linda Tamm and Bill Sykes, all of Mount Prospect. Nancy James, Janet Lehtonen, Kari Miller, Karen Tegen, all of Prospect Heights, Mary Kelly of St. Pauline, and Janet Lehtonen and Carol Lehtonen of Arlington Heights.

Boys Find Adventure In House of Bygone Days

A Day photographer watched as three four boys descended the windows of an old house, which was being wrecked at 3 E. Northwest Hwy. The boys drove here every day in a group of four when staff members had been exploring the building. The house was at the rear of the Day office at 117 S. Main. Billy Schuler, 16, is a member for The Day. All the boys attended St. Paul Lutheran School, 10 S. Belmont, Mount Prospect. Today the wreckers' work is finished. There will soon be a parking lot on the site. There will be more, however, who will remember the old house that once stood there.

Other brothers are invaluable as explorers such as this. Billy Schuler (left), 12, explains one of the hidden secrets of house construction to brother Billy, 16.

Billy Schuler (left), 16, of 30 S. Maple, checks on old car found in the half-ruined house. To him, his brother Eddie, 12, (shown from the camera) Charlie Miller, 10, of 22 S. Owen, and Billy's other brother, Joey (right), 11, this was the end of the day.

Window hinges are for grinding and for climbing when tomorrow the building will come down. Eddie Schuler (left), 12, of 30 S. Maple, and brother Joey, 11, do a little of both.

To Joey Schuler, 11, as to most boys his age, knocking out these last pieces of stone is no obligation. Here only a few pieces clinging to the frame were in the window when the boys arrived. There were there when they left.

Plan Welcome For Coronets

A big "welcome home" awaits the 58 girls of the VFW Coronet drill team when they arrive from New York Friday afternoon.

Village President John G. Woods is expected to head the official delegation at the Municipal Building. A police escort will greet the two buses carrying the girls at the village limits. The Coronets are arriving home a day earlier than originally planned. They placed third in national competition.

Limit County Zoning Powers, Village Asks

Legislature Urged to Expand Local Jurisdiction

Arlington Heights is taking its case to the Cook County Zoning Board in Springfield.

The village wants to curtail powers of the county in zoning matters with 1 1/2 miles of the village limits.

Two resolutions adopted by the village on Tuesday set out the reasons for the zoning fight. The resolutions ask that the 75th General Assembly amend legislation to give zoning powers to counties with more than 30,000 population.

The 1963 zoning code decision to give the county zoning powers was the result of a series of business zoning cases in the village. The resolutions ask that the 75th General Assembly amend legislation to give zoning powers to counties with more than 30,000 population.

The 1963 zoning code decision to give the county zoning powers was the result of a series of business zoning cases in the village. The resolutions ask that the 75th General Assembly amend legislation to give zoning powers to counties with more than 30,000 population.

Officer Mike Schmale stands with a group of people, including a man in a suit and a woman, after an accident at Evergreen and Northwest Hwy. involving an ambulance. Two boys suffered minor injuries when a motorist ran a red light.

One Day Motorcycle Toll: 5 Hurt

Four youths were injured in motorcycle accidents in Arlington Heights yesterday. One was hospitalized after a motorcycle accident in Mount Prospect.

Robert P. Mochling Jr., 17, of 431 S. Beverly Lane, was killed in a fair condition in North-west County Hospital after suffering brain and bone injuries to the leg.

Mochling's motorcycle struck the rear of a truck driven by Edward Kirmak, 46, of 431 S. Beverly Lane, who was attempting to pass the truck at the intersection of Lynden and Newbury at a left turn.

Mochling was taken to a hospital where he died. Two other riders on the same motorcycle suffered minor injuries at Evergreen and North Hwy.

Bradley N. Nielsen, 17, of 1252 N. Illinois and his passenger Gregory Shroedahl, 17, of 208 W. Fremont were treated and released from Northwest County Hospital.

Police said a car driven by William E. Burt, 45, of Maywood, ran a red light and struck the motorcycle. Burt was ticketed for disobeying a red light.

In a third Arlington Heights accident, Kent A. Kelly, 19, of Burlington, Ill., suffered a fractured leg when his motorcycle collided with a car at Northwest Hwy. and Dundas.

Richard told Kelly to Family Hospital, Des Plaines, after a four-hour ambulance ride. He was released to his mother, Mrs. Olson, at Holy Michael town hospital.

Builder Outlines Plan For Creekside Homes

Builder Albert Riley has petitioned the Rolling Meadows City Council for rezoning, zoning and preliminary approval for a proposed planned development known as "Creekside".

The 65-acre tract is located east of Plum Grove Rd. and south of Kirkwood Rd.

Riley has asked county approval for four major steps:

- Rezoning of the property to the City of Rolling Meadows.
- Approval of preliminary plans.
- Issuance of building permits for model homes prior to development of the area.

Rolling Meadows to discuss the plan.

"We are trying to achieve a new feeling in the development," Riley said.

The property is heavily wooded and we want to save the trees as far as possible. We are trying to achieve a new feeling in the development," Riley said.

The trial of Dennis Forth, 22, of Chicago, for burglary and criminal damage to property in the Tully-Ho apartment project, was continued Tuesday said Sept. 13 in Niles court.

Switch Taken

Mr. A. Proven told Mount Prospect police Monday someone had stolen an electronic garage opener from the back of his car parked in front of his home at 422 W. Evergreen. He made the report after his wife noticed the garage door going up and down with no one in the car.

Zoning discussions between developers and village officials are not always in the form of lengthy debates.

But Al Miller of Miller Builders and officials of Arlington Heights have been doing that for a while.

At last he's the builder who has been in the village for a while.

Some Day

The best news (provided something else does not happen before this goes into print) flowing out of Chicago is the house coming on Market Street.

It is superintendent of the Metropolitan Sanitary District and he should not be allowed to become there are enough troubles with the sewer at study. The sanitary district recently made a good impression in the area because a chief engineer took his job seriously and got action on a complaint from citizens.

"Give the credit to Mr. Belmont," the engineer said at the time.

Belmont seems to be trying to do a job, a first that makes him an oddity among Chicago and Cook County public "vervans."

Why can't Chicago catch a break? Why are not some streams interrupted so they spray grandeur around a restaurant?

The answer, partly, is in the kind of news citizens want. Chicago is as far gone that it is a day by itself. But the streets should take note. Crime is the infection. First it creeps, then it gallops.

If you get a parking or speeding ticket, pay it. Do not try to pull strings. Politicians who have to be con-al when they arrive are the first step to an open town. The flow is worse a class community, that it is up an investment in honest politics.

When they start killing a boat 1 and 4 a.m. houses for towns, speak up in opposition. Politicians will be really pay around with the public available in a midnight closing operation.

Contractors contracts for schools, sewers, and other major tax-funded operation are worth watching. There is enough money in these projects to "buy" votes of officials.

Oak Park is right across the street from Chicago but through the years it has maintained a reputation as a quiet town. For one thing, Oak Park is a "dry" town. The police are tough and apparently honest. The force appears to be free of politics; the citizens put money into the town.

A good police department will run the bookends out of town as soon as they can get them. It may not be legal, but it works.

The proof of this is that most and most of the police here are buying houses in the better areas. They are allowed to live there as long as they believe and do not bring business home with them. As for the hands, they find it self-defeating.

Time to Register For School

Parents who have moved into School District 59 this summer should register their children now for fall classes.

All district school buildings are open from 9 - 12 a.m. and from 1 - 4 p.m.

The elementary district includes:
-Julius Law School
-1314 Federal Rd., Arlington Heights
-Forest View Elementary School
-1901 Elm Drive, Mount Prospect
-Robert Frost School
-1206 Cypress Ln., Mount Prospect
-Dempster Junior High School
-420 Dempster, Mount Prospect

Today, Sept. 5, will be the first day of school for all students except kindergartners. Their parents are being notified by letter what time to bring their for special kindergarten.

Regular kindergarten classes will begin Wednesday, Sept. 7. Parents with questions, or those who are uncertain as to what to register, can call the Administration Building at HE 7-1000.

Announce Plans For Computerized School System

Plans for a computerized statewide education information system affecting all 1,347 school districts in Illinois have been announced by Ray Page, state superintendent of education.

"Nearly half of the 2,087,000 public school students in the state are served by some form of data processing system, and when our new information system is completed, we will help to serve all school districts and students in the state," Page said.

"The IBM System/360 computer will be the nucleus of the planned information system. It will take several months to put the program into full operation."

"OUR SYSTEM will offer consistent, efficient and accurate data processing information for statistics on students, teachers, finances, facilities and services for both districts and statewide for both

-Cervantes had the right idea!

Cervantes learned from ad experience that "the best foundation in the world is money." The celebrated Spanish novelist, playwright, and poet who created Don Quixote struggled throughout his life to free himself from financial difficulties.

Four centuries later, another playwright, George Bernard Shaw, wrote concerning "food, clothing, firing, rent, taxes, respectability, and children: Nothing can raise these seven million from man's rack but money; and the spirit cannot soar until the millions are lifted."

Sobering Thoughts

In the current edition of the Triangle News, the new letter of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce is sobering and thought-provoking. "Quote of the Week" which we believe is worth repeating.

Tom Novotny, chairman editor of the Triangle News, credits the quote to Edwin A. Lahey. Lahey is Washington business chief for the Knight newspapers and an old friend and former colleague of ours. He knows the value of brevity and he knows how to pump life into even something as dull as statistics.

So, thanks to Ed Lahey and Tom Novotny, dwell for a moment on this:

"Consumer credit reaches an all-time high every month. At the beginning of May it had climbed to $89.1 billion, an increase of $900 million in just one month."

"That is what the American people owe on credit cards ($30 billion), personal loans ($19 billion), charge accounts and service credits ($19 billion) and all other deferred payments."

Letters to the Editor

The Inalienable Rights Of the Individual

Editor:
You, Mr. Lips, you are democracy at work on Monday night, Aug. 15. I just put very very that I did not appreciate what you say. As I said, it is a very knowledgeable man speaks of the inalienable rights of the individual. This is our democracy is built on it. So often these days we forget that we have the right to something we have been fighting for our own claims. We had to at that but people are not sure, and as what we should do without questioning them. It is this way we have been so wealthy and then our democracy is lost.

I salute the Arlington News. I salute the Arlington News in its democratic action. The three people you speak of are the ones who are the right when they bought their homes in the past and so to go through. They know their homes are in the past, just as you do when you purchase a home. They like their home, they wanted their family to live on a street. That was their right. You should not expect that I will change your mind, or mend your thoughtfulness when you thought you would not have to live in it as the obligation you contracted for when you bought your home.

I applied the village board and the three little men on the great street.
Mrs. Donald L. France

There Is More To Employment Boom

Editor:
Your recent article, "Sabbatical Employment Boom," although interesting, only touches the surface of the nation's many low income jobs which are so long to be sought because there is no low cost housing available. Many ex-migrants, for example, who work at such jobs, will soon leave their homes because their living quarters have been condemned by the county board. When those jobs move, they very often have the state, as is the case for those families who formerly lived at 1250 Mount Prospect Rd.

This problem will intensify as more and more industry leaves in the area. In the last 15 years the bureau of labor statistics reports that half of all industrial buildings and stores have been situated outside large cities. It almost goes without saying that such developments are not confined to the research and development field.

The perfection of our photography cannot be compared

Furthermore, town, and villages will be forced to increase their police forces as a result of the increase in the number of people who are leaving the city. This is a very serious situation which will require the state to take action to deal with it. It is not just a matter of money, but of the future of the state.

DOCTOR SAYS

Entropion

W. G. BRANSTADT, M.D.

Q — I am a woman, 33 and have been plagued for 40 years with entropion. An operation to correct this condition gave complete relief for six years but now the trouble is coming back. What would you advise?

A — Entropion is a pulling inward of the lower lid with irritation of the eyeball by the lashes. Sometimes springing collagen to the lower lid will draw the lid back in place. The only other treatment is surgery. Incidentally, persons who wear contact lenses would find no irritation from such lid.

Q — For the past two years I have been troubled with cataracts. Recently I had one removed from a lower lid but another is appearing in the same place. Can anything be done to prevent recurrence?

A — Cataracts are cysts in the eye. They often occur in pairs. When they are small no treatment is needed. In the early stage the application of yellow oxide of mercury ointment followed by hot compresses and gentle massage may cause them to dissolve. The larger ones must be removed surgically. Recurrences are common, especially if the eye wall is not removed completely.

Q — What would cause a person to bring up some of his food after eating? The food is not sour.

A — As regurgitation of the esophagus, esophageal spasms or nervous habits could cause this.

Wheeling Pins '96 Grid Hopes on Speed, Balance

BY DALE MOHANN

Wheeling High School's gladiators Williams will depend on speed and a sudden, often returning lightning bolt this year to lead them from the depths of the Mid-State school League trenches.

The Cats hope to recover from a 2-5-1 record and a fifth place finish in 1965, and Head Coach Bill Delaney should be able to lead the team to start the long climb upward.

"WE WILL HAVE a fairly good team," Delaney said. "We need an overall team speed and a few of our greatest stars."

There is no question that this team has more potential than the 1965 group.

Throughout variety candidate reports for the first previous season, year, but only some of them were interesting. Leading the list of returners is junior half back, Ryan Harris, the team's star. He is a 190-pound, 5-10-inch, 120-pounder who is the only "true" star in this year's backfield.

DELANEY will bring some of the team's most important players to the starting line. He was one of four Wheeling All-Conference selections last year, and he was voted the league's most valuable player by his teammates. — on a small account. — on a small account.

A pair of very fast backs seems to have the inside track on the Wildcats' starting half back job. Tony Harris stands only 5-8 and weighs 155 pounds, while Rich Haddock goes 5-10, 162 pounds. But the athletic duo proved sturdy enough last year to earn their variety assignments.

DELANEY's other major players are all returners. Mike Henry and Tom Traversone, a pair of 105-pounders, are expected to lead the team's line at guards last year, while Bill Brown and Mike Gentry, both 110-pounders, are expected to lead the team's line at ends and punter, and Ryan Harris played center.

The battle for fast-moving backs in the line figure to be wide open before the Cats open their season with Miami Beach. Delaney last year in the top's top lineman last year through Delaney's coaching.

AMONG THE MISSING are Tony Smith, Jim Whittington, and Steve Zandberg. Smith was an all-conference player in 1965, and Mike Gentry, who earned honorable mention status in the league last year.

Smith's loss was especially hard to take. Whittington, a 6-2, 250-pound tackle, was the team's most valuable player last year to sign into the Hawks' roster.

WHITTINGTON, a 6-2, 250-pound tackle, was the team's most valuable player last year to sign into the Hawks' roster.

He figures to handle the variety spot called in 1965. The 5-11 underman seems at a better power than a runner.

Four solid wings, one of the squad's flurrier back — to lead battles with Sert's for the first — strong center, Job, Sert, at 230 pounds to Proctor's 190, definitely has a weight as well as an experience advantage, but his junior counterpart, but Proctor holds the edge in speed.

DALETHY rates nose balance and team spirit as the Wildcats' greatest assets, as inexperienced line in the great-est question mark.

The veteran mentor calls them the best team to last in the league schedule, but sees his own crew as a competitor.

SPARKS ON SWIMMING

Elementary Backstroke

BY CHRISTIAN SPARKS

Warm up with a six-week swim, two weeks each, front crawl, side stroke, back stroke, and breast stroke. Follow on a six-week swim, two weeks each, front crawl, side stroke, back stroke, and breast stroke.

IF "MIDLEY" is a new word for you, you will be hearing a lot about it in your evening program. It means to swim a distance with a minimum of two or more strokes.

Now get your keyboard and kick a few words. Try to make a short half as many as you could kick without stopping. Remember to kick from the hips and not just by bending the knees. If you have trouble going, think about trying to kick.

WHILE YOU rest, work on the elementary backstroke. It is probably the most useful stroke of all, a great stroke in the water. Little fellows can do one with ease.

From the back, glide position, start by pulling the hands right up inside the body all the way to the armpits while the arms come pull the legs into position by bending the knees and bringing the feet down behind you. Both of these movements are made close to the normal body position to cut down on resistance, on bring the arms up with the hands close to the body, spreading them from the beginning. Also drop the lower legs into position before spreading them.

Final Loop Standings Announced

Final Standings have been released by the Arlington High School District in the District's Men's Classic Softball League. Arlington Country Club was the league's first and only winner.

ARLINGTON COUNTRY CLUB was the league's first and only winner. The team's record was 10-0. The team's record was 10-0.

Falcon Dedicates Year to Kurt Keller

BY DALE HOPMANN

Forest View High School opened its 1964 varsity football drills this week with a vow to win for Kurt Keller.

Billy Varsity and junior varsity practice conducted reported to the Falcon practice field for light drills and conditioning maintenance by his absence was the 17-year-old Keller, one of three local men who were killed in a factory accident in North Lake on July 25.

"THIS LOOKS like the best football team Forest View has ever had," said Head Coach Bob Scott. "And we are going to dedicate its efforts this season to Kurt."

Keller was a first-string linebacker and second-string fullback on the Falcon's conference champion junior varsity squad last year. Scott said he would have seen considerable action in 1964. "He would have been our back-up fullback, and he had a good chance of breaking into the starting defensive line," Scott explained.

LAST YEAR's junior varsity record plus a conference champion sophomore team in 1963 speak well for Forest View's varsity chances this year, even though there are only four returning lettermen on the current roster.

"Maxine West, Arlington, and Palatine have to run as the side linemen this year," Scott said. "But we could be a sleeper."

BALANCE is the bygone of the Falcon attack, the season as the local eleven tries to shake off its loss through graduation of all-conference, all-state back Pat Deussen, Deussen, who also was a district cage and track star.

Village Market Takes Twilight League Title

J. and B. Village Market focused on just one of the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League Monday Division standings, as the league completed its regular season Monday.

The Marketers barely edged Anton and Gene for first place honors, finishing with 70 to the runner-up 89. G. B. First and Company was a distant third with 121.7.

WILL SWANSON captured low net leader's at the 19th East season, combining a 42 with his 1 handicap to post an adjusted 31. Two golfers tied for first in the low gross drive with 39.7.

Birdies were scored Monday by Harb Scott on the third hole and Len Johnson and Ray Burns on the thirteenth.

PAUL SELESKI finished the intended but who will be in the thick of the battle for backfield position.

Frank Tuckie seems to be back on the fullback spot, but any of these Falcon speed mechanics could be in the starting lineup at halfback when Forest View opens its campaign against Deerfield Sept. 17.

JEFF JACOBY, Dennis Leach, and Frank Cavella at stand 5-4 and weight 165 pounds, and all three are fly. Jacoby and Cavella may share the job, but they may alternate at times.

The Falcon line will not be long this season, averaging nearly 185 pounds per man. Bob Savage and Pat Keller will provide some variety experience in tackle. Both are varsity starters last year, but didn't play enough to earn their letters.

SAVAGE is 6-2, 200-pound power, while Keller, a senior, stands 6-1, 185 pounds. A pair of seniors, Mark Frankel at 5-11, 185 pounds, and Larry Stevens, 6-1, 195 pounds, will see the starting center berth. Stevens will also see service as a guard.

Strong Sam Smith, another senior, figures to start at end with Bob Smith.

SCOTT said his crew could play well for the starting center berth. Stevens will also see service as a guard.

LODGE said three duck runs are to be open between October 22 and December 15th unless they freeze over before that time.

They are anxious, a knap ahead at Browning, Illinois, on Illinois 100 and Rice Lake, Illinois. Rickard county west and south of Chicago and Clinton county south of Chicago.

GOOSE HUNTING areas are listed below:

Forest View's varsity football lineup will depend greatly on the performance of these three all-conference lettermen back for another season for the Falcons. They are (from left) Dave Kasper, Howard Branch, and Bob Arnold.

Hunting Applications To Be Taken in Sept.

William Lodge, director of the department of conservation, Wednesday said applications to hunt on private hunting areas will open September 1st.

Lodge said applications may not apply for more than one permit for each type of game hunted.

Measuring Progress

BY CHRISTIAN S. SPARKS

I suggested that you begin timing weeks as soon as you were able to swim across the lake. The important thing is not how fast you can swim a certain distance at the stage of your swimming but rather to notice how much you improve as the season progresses.
